Love is a Bastard Erin Graham, De tous les mecs dispo... il fallait qu'elle tombe sur lui ! Laly a 25 ans, elle est célibataire et elle rêve au grand amour... Mais où se cache-t-il ? Serait-il possible que ce soit son boss, comme dans ses romances favorites ? Son coloc ? Le mec qu'elle a croisé dans l'ascenseur ? Et si la réalité dépassait tous ses fantasmes ? Et si lui, l'homme de sa vie, était à la fois ce qui pouvait lui arriver de plus déroutant et de plus puissant, mais surtout, de plus inattendu ? Découvrez vite Love is a Bastard, la romance drôle, pétillante et intense d'Erin Graham ! Ce livre a précédemment été commercialisé sous le titre L'homme idéal est une licorne comme les autres.  - Quoi ? Il t'arrive quoi, Piou-piou ? - Il se passe que j'ai terminé ce bouquin ! Bordel ! Je contacte l'auteure. - Il est nul ? Merde, je me faisais une joie de le commencer demain ! - Non, il est génial. C'est bien ça, le problème ! Et elle ose dire que... genre, une romance pareille peut nous arriver à toutes... Complètement allumée, la gonzesse ! Je tends le livre ouvert à ma coloc, qui ne manque pas de pouffer. Elle me prend mon mug, qu'elle pose sur le chevet, pendant que j'écris à l'autre siphonnée du bocal un petit message amer, révélant très largement le niveau de frustration dans lequel je me trouve. - « Il suffit de la trouver... », lit à haute voix Gaëlle, songeuse. Ben, voilà, Poussin, il suffit de la trouver. Je repose mon téléphone entre mes jambes et la toise, incrédule. - Tu ne vas pas t'y mettre, toi aussi ? - Ben... Peut-être que tu cherches au mauvais endroit, aussi... - Mais je ne cherche pas ! - C'est bien ça, le problème ! - Je n'ai pas de problème ! - Donc tout va bien ! Ne va pas gonfler cette auteure avec tes délires psychotiques ! C'est ridicule ! - Je ne la gonfle pas. - Non, bien entendu. Tu sais ce qu'elle va te dire ? Que si on ne cherche pas, on ne risque pas de trouver ! - T'as fait option psychologie de comptoir au bac ou quoi ?  Love is a Bastard, d'Erin Graham, histoire intégrale.

The Way of Love Luce Irigaray, 2002 The Way of Love asks the question: How can we love each other? Here Luce Irigaray, one of the world's foremost philosophers, presents an extraordinary exploration of desire and the human heart. If Western philosophy has claimed to be a love of wisdom, it has forgotten to become a wisdom of love. We still lack words, gestures, ways of doing or thinking to approach one another as humans, to enter into dialogue, to build a world where we can live together.

Love, Theoretically Ali Hazelwood, 2024-05-02 - Je te hais depuis le jour où j'ai entendu ton nom pour la première fois. Je te hais depuis que j'ai lu dans le Scientific American ce que tu avais fait. Je te hais depuis l'âge de douze ans. Je te hais plus que tu ne me hais, depuis plus longtemps et pour de meilleures raisons. Jack n'a plus du tout l'air amusé. Et pour moi, c'est une première. La première fois que je suis vraiment moi-même. J'en éprouve un sentiment nouveau, inconnu, bizarre - que j'adore. En pratique, Elsie sort avec George. Enfin, c'est ce qu'ils font croire. Le soir, pour arrondir ses fins de mois, Elsie loue ses services de fausse petite amie idéale. Et le jour, elle trime dans les amphis et croule sous les copies d'étudiants dont la grand-mère vient encore de mourir. Son rêve de toujours ? Être chercheuse titulaire ! Alors quand le département de physique du MIT ouvre un poste, Elsie ne perd pas une seconde. Seul accroc : Jack Smith, l'un des recruteurs (et, accessoirement, un brillant scientifique aussi arrogant que sexy), est prêt à tout pour placer son propre poulain... Mais rien ne se mettra entre elle et ce poste, même pas ses biceps à défier les lois de la gravité. En théorie, tout devrait bien se passer, non ? Le phénomène TikTok ! Le phénomène Goodreads ! Best-seller du New York Times ! « Je ne me laisserai jamais de ces comédies romantiques cérébrales ! » Christina Lauren « Délicieusement intello et sexy, truffé de remarques pertinentes sur la condition de la femme dans le milieu scientifique. » Helen Hoang « Ali Hazelwood nous prouve encore une fois que la science peut être sexy ! » Jodi Picoult

Primitive Jo Odgers, Flora Samuel, Adam Sharr, 2006-09-27 This innovative edited collection charts the rise, fall and possible futures of the word primitive. The word primitive is fundamental to the discipline of architecture in the west, providing a convenient starting point for the many myths of architecture's origins. Since the almost legendary 1970s conference on the Primitive, with the advent of post-modernism and, in particular, post-colonialism, the word has fallen from favour in many disciplines. Despite this, architects continue to use the word to mythologize and reify the practice of simplicity. Primitive includes contributions from some of today's leading architectural commentators including Dalibor Vesely, Adrian Forty, David Leatherbarrow, Richard Weston and Richard Coyne. Structured around five sections, Negotiating Origins; Urban Myths; Questioning Colonial Constructs; Making Marks; and Primitive Futures, the essays highlight the problematic nature of ideas of the primitive, engage with contemporary debate in the field of post colonialism and respond to a burgeoning interest in the non-expert architecture. This now controversial subject remains, for better or worse, intrinsic to the very structure of Modernism and deeply embedded in architectural theory. Considering a broad range of approaches, this book provides a rounded past, present and future of the word primitive in the architectural sphere.

Film and the City George Melnyk, 2014-05-01 Most Canadians are city dwellers, a fact often unacknowledged by twentieth-century Canadian films, with their preference for themes of wilderness survival or rural life. Modernist Canadian films tend to support what film scholar Jim Leach calls “the nationalist-realist project,” a documentary style that emphasizes the exoticism and mythos of the land. Over the past several decades, however, the hegemony of Anglo-centrism has been challenged by francophone and First Nations perspectives and the character of cities altered by a continued influx of immigrants and the development of cities as economic and technological centers. No longer primarily defined through the lens of rural nostalgia, Canadian urban identity is instead polyphonic, diverse, constructed through multiple discourses and mediums, an exchange rather than a strict orientation. Taking on the urban as setting and subject, filmmakers are ideally poised to create and reflect multiple versions of a single city. Examining fourteen Canadian films produced from 1989 to 2007, including Denys Arcand’s Jésus de Montréal (1989), Jean-Claude Lauzon’s Léolo (1992), Mina Shum’s Double Happiness (1994), Clément Virgo’s Rude (1995), and Guy Maddin’s My Winnipeg (2007), Film and the City is the first comprehensive study of Canadian film and “urbanity”—the totality of urban culture and life. Drawing on film and urban studies and building upon issues of identity formation in Canadian studies, Melnyk considers how filmmakers, films, and urban audiences experience, represent, and interpret urban spatiality, visuality, and orality. In this way, Film and the City argues that Canadian narrative film of the postmodern period has aided in articulating a new national identity.

Like Mount Zion Wen-Pin Leow, 2024-03-11 Critical spatial approaches — particularly those informed by the scholarship of Lefebvre, Foucault, and Soja — have significantly impacted biblical scholarship over the last twenty years. However, these spatial approaches have been limited due to the methodological challenges inherent in transposing the social-scientific approaches of the aforementioned scholars to the task of biblical interpretation. This volume adapts conceptual metaphor theory as a methodological bridge to address such constraints. The first half of the volume begins by surveying the field of critical spatiality in biblical studies, arguing for the need for fresh methodological development. Thereafter, the volume delineates a particular critical spatial approach, inspired by Lefebvre and Foucault, for which conceptual metaphor theory is proposed as a methodological bridge. The second half of the volume begins by proposing the Psalms of Ascents as a case study upon which the method could be applied. It is then argued that the proposed method - if efficacious - should provide insight on corpus' Zion theology and its so-called pilgrimage character. Using the proposed method in conjunction with conventional historical-grammatical tools of poetic analysis, each psalm is analysed with regard to its metaphor and spatiality. The volume concludes that the case study demonstrates the efficacy of the proposed methods by allowing a rich reading of each psalm, especially by explicating the spatial narratives and/or spatial metaphorical conceptualisations that underlie each text, and providing fresh insight on the collection as a whole.

Metaphilosophy Henri Lefebvre, 2016-07-12 Leading French thinker with his key work on philosophical thought In Metaphilosophy, Henri Lefebvre works through the implications of Marx's revolutionary thought to consider philosophy's engagement with the world. Lefebvre takes Marx's notion of the "world becoming philosophical and philosophy becoming worldly" as a leitmotif, examining the relation between Hegelian-Marxist supersession and Nietzschean overcoming. Metaphilosophy is conceived of as a transformation of philosophy, developing it into a programme of radical worldwide change. The book demonstrates Lefebvre's threefold debt to Hegel, Marx and Nietzsche, but it also brings a number of other figures into the conversation, including Sartre, Heidegger and Axelos. A key text in Lefebvre's oeuvre, Metaphilosophy is also a milestone in contemporary thinking about philosophy's relation to the world.

Human Dimension and Interior Space Julius Panero, Martin Zelnik, 2014-01-21 The study of human body measurements on a comparative basis is known as anthropometrics. Its applicability to the design process is seen in the physical fit, or interface, between the human body and the various components of interior space. Human Dimension and Interior Space is the first major anthropometrically based reference book of design standards for use by all those involved with the physical planning and detailing of interiors, including interior designers, architects, furniture designers, builders, industrial designers, and students of design. The use of anthropometric data, although no substitute for good design or sound professional judgment should be viewed as one of the many tools required in the design process. This comprehensive overview of anthropometrics consists of three parts. The first part deals with the theory and application of anthropometrics and includes a special section dealing with physically disabled and elderly people. It provides the designer with the fundamentals of anthropometrics and a basic understanding of how interior design standards are established. The second part contains easy-to-read, illustrated anthropometric tables, which provide the most current data available on human body size, organized by age and percentile groupings. Also included is data relative to the range of joint motion and body sizes of children. The third part contains hundreds of dimensioned drawings, illustrating in plan and section the proper anthropometrically based relationship between user and space. The types of spaces range from residential and commercial to recreational and institutional, and all dimensions include metric conversions. In the Epilogue, the authors challenge the interior design profession, the building industry, and the furniture manufacturer to seriously explore the problem of adjustability in design. They expose the fallacy of designing to accommodate the so-called average man, who, in fact, does not exist. Using government data, including studies prepared by Dr. Howard Stoudt, Dr. Albert Damon, and Dr. Ross McFarland, formerly of the Harvard School of Public Health, and Jean Roberts of the U.S. Public Health Service, Panero and Zelnik have devised a system of interior design reference standards, easily understood through a series of charts and situation drawings. With Human Dimension and Interior Space, these standards are now accessible to all designers of interior environments.

Re-visioning Gender in Philosophy of Religion Pamela Sue Anderson, 2017-10-24 A passion for justice and truth motivates the bold challenge of Revisioning Gender in Philosophy of Religion. Unearthing the ways in which the myths of Christian patriarchy have historically inhibited and prohibited women from thinking and writing their own ideas, this book lays fresh ground for re-visioning the epistemic practices of philosophers. Pamela Sue Anderson seeks both to draw out the salient threads in the gendering of philosophy of religion as it has been practiced and to re-vision gender for philosophy today. The arguments put forth by contemporary philosophers of religion concerning human and divine attributes are epistemically located; yet the motivation to recognize this locatedness has to come from a concern for justice. This book presents invaluable new perspectives on the philosopher's ever-increasing awareness of his or her own locatedness, on the gender (often unwittingly) given to God, the ineffability in both analytic and Continental philosophy, the still critical role of reason in the field, the aims of a feminist philosophy of religion, the roles of beauty and justice, the vision of love and reason, and a gendering which opens philosophy of religion up to diversity.

The Work of Literary Translation Clive Scott, 2018-06-07 Offering an original reconceptualization of literary translation, Clive Scott argues against traditional approaches to the theory and practice of translation. Instead he suggests that translation should attend more to the phenomenology of reading, triggering creative textual thinking in the responsive reader rather than testing the hermeneutic skills of the professional translator. In this new guise, translation enlists the reader as an active participant in the constant re-fashioning of the text's structural, associative, intertextual and intersensory possibilities, so that our larger understanding of ecology, anthropology, comparative literature and aesthetics is fundamentally transformed and our sense of the expressive resources of language radically extended. Literary translation thus assumes an existential value which takes us beyond the text itself to how it situates us in the world, and what part it plays in the geography of human relationships.

CAMION BLANC David Leaf, « Pour eux, il était dans la nature de KISS d'être à contre-courant, en opposition avec la mentalité mainstream du show-business. Cette musique était à l'image de ses fans boutonneux, bardés de fringues fatiguées, pas marginaux mais presque, et en conflit permanent avec les conventions. KISS représentait des personnages de comics dont le public semblait friand » - dixit Bob Ezrin, producteur de KISS. Cette biographie nous révèle tout du groupe, sur quarante années de carrière explosive et de chansons inoubliables. La vie intime d'un des plus grands groupes de rock se dévore, tableau brossé à grands traits par les proches - producteurs, musiciens et cetera - nos quatre héros, Paul, Gene, Peter et Ace - et les autres. Cette découverte du fonctionnement intime d'un groupe nous révèle les ficelles du triomphe ; la route est longue, jusqu'au succès.

Transnational Marriage and Partner Migration Anne-Marie D'Aoust, 2022-02-11 This multidisciplinary collection investigates the ways in which marriage and partner migration processes have become the object of state scrutiny, and the site of sustained political interventions in several states around the world. Covering cases as varied as the United States, Canada, Japan, Iran, France, Belgium or the Netherlands, among others, contributors reveal how marriage and partner migration have become battlegrounds for political participation, control, and exclusion. Which forms of attachments (towards the family, the nation, or specific individuals) have become framed as risks to be managed? How do such preoccupations translate into policies? With what consequences for those affected by them, in terms of rights and access to citizenship? The book answers these questions by analyzing the interplay between issues of security, citizenship and rights from the perspectives of migrants and policymakers, but also from actors who negotiate encounters with the state, such as lawyers, non-governmental organizations, and translators.
