Also provided are six mini ethics cases to provoke thought about financial situations with ethical implications. Changes to this edition: # The marginal cost pricing analysis case now includes both underlying cost structure and current profitability # information. The pay-for-performance case now includes the three areas of performance (productivity, financial, and quality.) # The clinic valuation case now includes the use of free operating cash flow as a valuation approach in addition to valuations based on free cash flow to equityholders, number of physicians, and revenues. Also, debt financing has been added to the clinic's capital structure. # The receivables management case includes two additional customers each with a different receivables pattern. Also, the cost of carrying receivables has been added to the model. # The organization in this capitation and risk sharing case has been recast as a new Physician Hospital Organization (PHO.)

Writing Anthropology Carole McGranahan.2020-05-01 In Writing Anthropology, fifty-two anthropologists reflect on scholarly writing as both craft and commitment. These short essays cover a wide range of territory, from ethnography, genre, and the politics of writing to affect, storytelling, authorship, and scholarly responsibility. Anthropological writing is more than just communicating findings: anthropologists write to tell stories that matter, to be accountable to the communities in which they do their research, and to share new insights about the world in ways that might change it for the better. The contributors offer insights into the beauty and the function of language and the joys and pains of writing while giving encouragement to stay at it—to keep writing as the most important way to not only improve one’s writing but to also honor the stories and lessons learned through research. Throughout, they share new thoughts, prompts, and agitations for writing that will stimulate conversations that cut across the humanities. Contributors.
